Experience

My name is Bhuvanesh S, and I am currently a first-year student at KPR Institute of Engineering and Technology. I have a strong interest in programming and development, with knowledge in C++, Python, and full-stack development. Alongside my academic journey, I am eager to build practical skills and apply them to real-world projects. I am passionate about learning new technologies, improving my problem-solving abilities, and contributing to innovative solutions. My goal is to grow as a developer while gaining hands-on experience that strengthens both my technical and teamwork skills.

Education

Pursuing Bachelor of Engineering at KPR Institute of Engineering and Technology (First Year)
Completed Higher Secondary Education
Profile

I am a fresher with strong enthusiasm for web development. I have beginner-level knowledge in HTML, CSS, and JavaScript, and I am eager to improve my skills through practical projects. Alongside web technologies, I also have exposure to C++ and Python, which help me strengthen my programming foundation.

I am highly motivated to learn, adapt, and contribute to innovative solutions. My goal is to grow as a developer by building real-world applications and enhancing my problem-solving abilities.
